

Microbit Technologies

Microbit Technologies, Inc. specializes in design, development and consulting services for high speed electronics hardware design and full life cycle product development. Our technical team has over twenty five years experience designing schedule-critical, mission-critical and budget-critical systems and sub-systems from concept inception to product deployment for high technology companies in wireless communications, data communications, consumer products.

Please visit www.microbittech.com