

Benetel

Benetel is a wireless design and system test automation company. Our background is in development of cellular infrastructure for standards such as GSM, EDGE, CDMA2000 and UMTS where we have successfully brought numerous products from concept through to volume manufacture. We make extensive use of our considerable simulation and measurement tools enabling faster product deployment. Our FAST product has been successfully used to carry out design verification testing to UMTS Node B and UE air interface specifications.

Please visit www.benetel.com